

Boarding Ships: A Pirate's Perspective

18 May 2010 at 6pm, Greenwich Maritime Institute, London

SPEAKER: Dr Bernardo Obando: He started his seagoing career as deckhand on board bulk carriers in the early 80's and continued progressing through the ranks up to master mariner serving on a wide variety of vessels. In the mid 90's, he joined the Seafarers International Research Centre, at Cardiff University, where he conducted research into maritime labour economics, seafarer training and fraudulent practices relating to seafarers certificates. He returned back to sea and is currently working as harbour pilot and lecturer on maritime security.

FOR MORE INFORMATION PLEASE CONTACT:

- Prof Jason Chuah, University of Westminster, London UK
(j.chuah@westminster.ac.uk)
- Ms Suzanne Bowles, Greenwich Maritime Institute, London UK
(s.bowles@gre.ac.uk)